Judge’s comments: “JUDGE’S NOTE: The first 15minutes of the latest podcast was reviewed, as well as random samples of other podcasts.

This is a great newspaper podcast that’s a good way to enhance the experience of your audience by giving them access to reporters and editors as they discuss news topics of the day.

The production quality is generally good in most places. The host is a natural on the microphone and does an excellent job guiding the discussions. The panelists must wear headphones so they can tell when the mic isn’t picking up their voices as well, which happened often when they turned to talk to each other.”
